I'm astounded there are so many female horror writers, let alone lgbt-penning ones.

Shock at the prevalence of women horror writers, nonchalance about reading >90% men writers, and disregard for gender diversity amongst online horror fans is what led me to create this zine.

For this collection of titles, I chose to focus on authors who identify as women, although that is certainly not the full extent of gender diversity in horror or otherwise. Keep an eye out for a future mini-zine of 100+ Queer Horror Books for even more gender diversity in your reading.

Thanks for reading ♥
